

The FCC should focus on media ownership rather than worrying about content.